Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: This statement of reasons for allowance includes the major differences in the claims not found in the prior art of record and reasons why that differences are considered to define patentably over the prior art. The statement is not intended to necessarily state all the reasons for allowance or all the details why claims are allowed and should not be relied upon for this purpose. Rather, this statement reflects what the examiner considers important and therefore the primary reasons for the allowance of the claims.

The primary reason for allowance is the limitation directed to the "dynamic display" of a plurality of the quantity of bids and asks aligned with a "static display" of corresponding prices. Here, unlike the prior art, the "static" display of prices is just that, static, and does not move in response to a change in the inside market. With this display of market depth, claimed in each of the independent claims, a trader places a trade order with the pointer in the area of the order entry region of the dynamic market depth region, through a single computer implemented action, see Figures 3 and 4. For example, in figure 3, a click on Bid Q 18 will send an order to the market to sell 17 lots of the commodity at a price of 89.

The closest prior art including US Patent 6,408,282, PCT WO 01/16852 and commonly owned non-patent literature "X Trader" (see, applicant's response to USPTO's request for information) all lack this feature. The PTO also inquired as to the subject matter of alleged infringement referenced in applicant's petition to make special. The USPTO found no evidence of public use or any printed publication of the system known as J Trader, the subject matter of potential infringement and the applicant's basis for his petition to make special, earlier than November 6, 2000.

Therefore, the USPTO has concluded that the system known as J trader is not prior art to the instant application which has a filing date of June 06, 2000.

2. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
